City Services

Citrus Heights municipal services are administered at a Civic Center campus that encompasses the Citrus Heights City Hall, the Citrus Heights Chamber of Commerce and the Police Center. Built on land that was once part of the landmark Fountain Square Nursery, the Center is graced by an award-winning rose garden and a koi pond that pay homage to botanical heritage.

A broad complement of city services are performed by nine units:

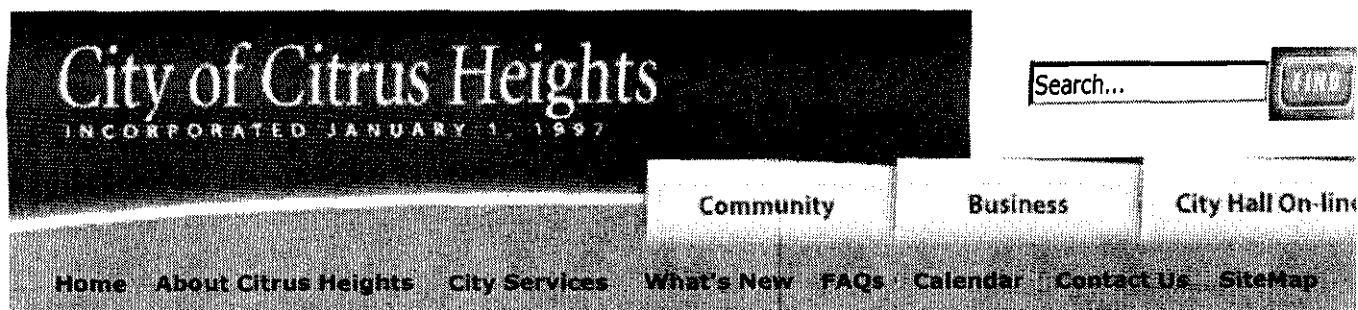

- City Council, which is the city's five-member elected legislative body that enacts ordinances determines how the city obtains and allocates funds.
- City Manager's Office, which has administrative responsibility for all city departments.
- Administrative Services and HR, which includes clerical, information technology management services and helps to coordinate functions with special districts and government agencies.
- City Clerk's Office, which performs legal functions related to City Council action ordinances, bids, elections and official record-keeping;
- Community Development, encompassing the Planning Division, which oversees zoning and urban design policies; the Building and Safety Division, which regulates building codes and construction safety; the Code Enforcement Division, which enforces compliance with residential building standards; and the Housing and Grants Division, which oversees residential planning and administers grants that generate community development funds.
- Economic Development Division, which oversees business retention and improvement, redevelopment and other functions that nurture the city's economic health and life.
- Finance Department, which encompasses accounts payable and receivable, administrative payroll, business licensing, budget preparation, debt management and other financial functions.
- General Services, which encompasses a cornucopia of services including animal waste management, road and traffic signal maintenance, flood control, and other functions.
- Police Department, which maintains an active volunteer program to reinforce the effectiveness of its staff of sworn officers;

Through these units and the individuals who compose them, Citrus Heights is at your

City Council

City of Citrus Heights
6237 Fountain Square Drive
Citrus Heights, CA 95621

Dear Residents and Visitors:

On behalf of the City Council, welcome to the City of Citrus Heights Web site.

Citrus Heights is a great place to live, work, and play!!! I invite you to visit the various parts of our Web site and discover what makes our community unique and special.

If you are a resident, I encourage you to get involved in community activities. The Law Enforcement Citizens' Advisory Committee is having numerous meetings to consider options for a long-term service delivery option for law enforcement services in Citrus Heights – the meetings are open to the public. Or take part in the City's Red, White, and Blue Parade as a committee member or as a participant. Or attend the Concerts in the Park that will begin in June. How do you find out the where's and when's of the meetings and events? – check out the calendar. Frequently updated, the calendar lists all city events and often is linked to additional information about the events.

Another important part of the web site is the "contact us" pages where you can contact Council Members directly.

Go to City Hall On Line and you can download forms for service requests or even register for an event. You can see what City jobs are available and then apply on line.

Another important resource is the direct link to the State's improved Mega Law Web site. You can link directly to this site from our Police Department home page.

And the above is just a sampling of what you can find on our web site. Whether you visit us on the web or visit us in person, you will find that Citrus Heights is friendly, accommodating, and ever-changing to meet your needs.

Sincerely,

Bret Daniels
Mayor of the City of Citrus Heights

Citrus Heights City Council Members

Citrus Heights operates under a council-manager form of government. Five members of the Council are elected at large to overlapping terms of four years. The Council selects one member to serve as Mayor. The City Council is the legislative body responsible for the policies of the city. The Council makes all policy determinations through enactment of ordinances and resolutions and has final authority in the implementation of these policies. The Council determines how the city will obtain and spend funds and annually reviews and approves the budget. The City Council appoints the City Manager and City Attorney, as well as the members of the city's various advisory boards and commissions.

Community Development

The Community Development Department is composed of four divisions: Planning, Building and Safety, Code Enforcement, and Housing and Grants. While each are functionally different, their integration is essential to the development, maintenance and future of Citrus Heights.

The Planning Division serves as an information center to assist citizens and the development community in understanding and applying Citrus Heights development policies in accordance with the General Plan, zoning ordinances, and other applicable property development standards. The Planning Division provides information on development processes, land use, zoning, and urban design. The division also serves as the primary staff support for the Planning Commission, provide information on business licenses, and issues oak tree permits.

The Building and Safety Division is responsible for reviewing plans, issuing building permits, doing field inspections of buildings to ensure compliance with local and state mandate regulations related to building construction, maintenance, rehabilitation and accessibility.

The Code Enforcement Division enforces many types of codes to prevent and abate nuisances on private property to ensure the livability of the community.

The Housing and Grants Division administers the Federal Community Development Block Grant Program, coordinates the city's housing efforts, as well as seeks and administers other programs for the city.

School Partnership

Citrus Heights is served almost exclusively by the San Juan Unified School District. Since the ninth largest school district in California and serves a 75-square-mile area in north Sacramento County, including Citrus Heights. With eleven (11) elementary schools, one middle school, and two high schools within Citrus Heights, the student population exceeds 100,000.

This map below identifies all of the San Juan Unified School District schools located within Citrus Heights. Click on a school and learn more about your local schools.

San Juan Unified School District also offers other educational schools and programs, such as special education centers, adult schools, preschool, and before-and after-school programs.

For additional information, contact the San Juan Unified School District.

City of Citrus Heights and San Juan Unified School District Partnerships

Citrus Heights appreciates the value of education and high-quality schools as a critical component of the overall quality of life in our community. Since incorporation, the City of Citrus Heights and the San Juan Unified School District have partnered on a number of significant projects, such as:

- Development of a list of recommendations for areas of collaboration as developed by the City of Citrus Heights Education Committee - a public task force;
- Renovation and reopening of the San Juan High School pool;
- Funding from the city to improve playground equipment in several elementary schools;
- Expansion and redesign of the Mariposa Elementary School parking lot;
- Regular communication between school principals and city staff to work on issues, share information; and,
- Publication of the "Spotlight on Schools" newsletter on a regular basis.

A key current partnership is the Bridges After-School Program. More after-school programs are now available at Citrus Heights schools starting this fall, made possible through a large grant from the State of California. The San Juan Unified School District (SJUSD) was recently awarded Century Community Learning Center Grant funding after a very competitive process, which started in January. The 21st Century grant is federally funded and administered by the State of California. SJUSD was awarded $8.5 million over the next five years for use for after-school programs throughout the school district.

In Citrus Heights, the funds will be used to run after-school programs at ten schools, including eight elementary schools (Coyle, Kingswood, Skycrest, Mariposa, Lichen, Grand Oaks, Heights, and Carriage) and two middle schools (Sylvan & Will Rogers). Six elementary schools had an after-school program last year that served 60 students. Those programs will now serve 120 students at each of those schools, plus another 60 students will now be served at City's other participating elementary schools. The programs at Sylvan Middle School and Will Rogers Middle School will serve 40 students each.

Bridges After-School provides a safe, enrichment oriented environment for students in grades K-8 at the elementary schools and grades 7-8 at Sylvan Middle School. The program is designed to supplement the school day learning experience, and also provides time for homework and recreation. The Bridges After-School Program is provided at no cost to participants.

SJUSD's success in receiving the 21st Century grant funds is based in part on a partnership established with the city of Citrus Heights several years ago. Seed funds were provided by the city for a trial program at one elementary school. That trial program was then expanded to six Citrus Heights schools, with the city funding a portion of the start-up costs. Since that was established, SJUSD successfully competed for funds to expand the after-school program in Citrus Heights and to introduce it throughout the district.

Strong community partnerships have also made the Bridges After-School Program successful. Both Sunrise Recreation and Park District and the Sylvan Oaks Library are very active in staffing and programming as partners in this collaborative project.

The 21st Century Grant funds will last for five years. The grant requires that during the five-year period the school district seek other funding to replace and augment the 21st Century grant funds in order to offer the after-school program on a long-term basis.

For more information, contact Citrus Heights Bridges After School Program at 725-649

Spotlight on Schools

Three times each year, the city publishes the Spotlight on Schools newsletter as part of the citywide community newsletter Connections to promote the programs and achievements of the Unified School District Schools within the City.

NEW HOURS! As of November 2002, the City of Citrus Heights has funded 13 additional open hours for the Sylvan Oaks Library. The funding goes through the end of June 2005. The new schedule of open hours is Monday through Thursday 11 to 8 and Friday/Saturday 1 to 5.

The Sylvan Oaks Library is on the corner of Auburn and Van Maren situated among a stand of mature oaks on the banks of Arcade Creek. Highlights of visiting the Sylvan Oaks Library include opportunities to enjoy reading in the park and visiting with the feral bunnies. The 2002 renovation of the library has made this attractive facility even more inviting. Renovation included new windows, carpet and the installation of new service desks.

The library serves the independent city of Citrus Heights as we 80,000 items available for checkout as well as twelve Internets and three word processors. The highly active Friends of the Sylvan Oaks Library continue to fund programs for children and adults, helping to enrich the community with information and fun.

The Sacramento Metropolitan Fire District provides services through 42 stations and 720 uniformed and support personnel to nearly 600,000 people in a 417 square mile area. Metro Fire represents 16 predecessor fire agencies. Some of these fire agencies were founded in the early twenties to provide fire protection in remote parts of the County.

Plan

The varied demographics of the District provide opportunity for its personnel to respond to emergencies in rural, suburban and urban settings. The wide diversity of emergency incidents require firefighters to be proficient in wildland fire fighting, structural fire fighting, crash fire rescue, technical rescue, swift water rescue, hazardous material mitigation, and paramedic medical services.

CITY OF CITRUS HEIGHTS

Public Opinion Survey
By

Townsend Raimundo Besler & Usher and J. Moore Methods

Survey Instrument

- Poll was conducted in April 2002 to determine public opinion on a number of issues important to the City of Citrus Heights – particularly regarding public safety
- The sample of 500 interviewees was drawn from the Sacramento County Registrar of Voters voter file and was limited to voters who live in the City of Citrus Heights
- The poll was conducted by telephone and has a margin of error of + or – 4.5 percent

General Governance

- This poll shows among the highest levels of public satisfaction with local government we have encountered in Northern California
- 76 percent responded that it was on the “right track”
- 84 percent stated that “local neighborhoods” were on the right track – also a very high number
- 59 percent of the residents have had contact with the City and of those, 81 percent said the contact was positive

- By a nearly five-to-one margin – 71 percent to 16 percent – residents believe the community has improved since incorporation
- 82 percent feel safe from crime
- 80 percent believe that property taxes are affordable
- Residents, by more than a two-to-one margin – 66 percent to 28 percent -- stated satisfaction with current levels of taxation
- 74 percent say they have confidence in City leaders to solve problems as they arise

Evaluating Issues and Services

First Tier

(Numbers refer to percent responding to "high priority")

Providing police protection	83
Providing 911 emergency services	81
Spending tax dollars effectively	75
Providing neighborhood police patrols	72
Keeping taxes at affordable levels	71

Amenities in Citrus Heights

Where do you do a majority of the following:

	% Citrus Heights	% Elsewhere
Shopping for groceries	78	20
Eating out at restaurant	67	25
Shopping for clothes	76	21
Shopping for hardware /home improvement	65	33

Conclusions

- The residents of Citrus Heights believe that incorporation was a good move for them to make
- They show very strong levels of support for the City's decision-makers and believe that they are equal to the task of keeping the City moving in the right direction
- Residents also show significant levels of satisfaction with basic services -- so much so, that many services such as maintaining sidewalks, providing library services and senior citizen programs, do not rise above tertiary levels of interest
- One area of rising concern, however, is with drug-related crime and drugs in schools.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

Memorial Day

On June 30, 1969, Marine Corps Lt. John (Jack) Hulme was killed during a missile attack in the Quang Tri Province of Vietnam. He left a widow and a three-week-old son, John, whose only awareness of his father as he grew up was a face in a photograph.

Now a filmmaker, John Hulme says, "I wanted more than that. I wanted to find out who my father was, how he lived, and how he died; the people he loved and who loved him; why he was in Vietnam, who his friends were as he grew up, and who were his fellow soldiers. I needed to know everything. So in 1999, 30 years after he died, I took a camera and began my search for the man who had become my 'unknown soldier.'"

On Monday, May 30, HBO will air "Unknown Soldier: Searching for a Father," John Hulme's remarkable film about a personal and often painful, as well as enlightening quest that ultimately took him and his mother to Vietnam, where three decades earlier fate changed both of their lives forever.

On Sunday, May 29, PBS airs the National Memorial Day Concert, an annual tribute to the men and women of America's armed forces. This year, the concert also marks the 60th anniversary of the planting of the American flag on Iwo Jima's Mount Suribachi. Decorated World War II veteran Charles Durning will be one of several actors and singers taking part in the program.

Write to Freddy Groves in care of King Features Weekly Service, P.O. Box 536475, Orlando, FL 32853-6475, or send an e-mail to letters.kfws@hearstsc.com.

CRASH

Crash is more than a movie about Los Angeles, it's a poem, a slice-of-life, a journey into the dark places a lot of people don't want to go, which is why it will probably fail at the box office.

The film is peopled with at least a dozen main characters: a district attorney, his wife, an Iranian shop keeper who's mistaken for an Arab, a Mexican-American locksmith who's mistaken for a gang member, a black television director, and several cops and criminals—all equally lost in a city where the angels seem to have vanished. One of the erately crash into one another because they're desperate to be touched. It's as if they live behind glass walls, fearful of anyone who's different. At least two characters change the locks on their doors, and several carry concealed weapons, but there are no good or bad guys.

The question of who's different is the driving force behind Crash. We're shown whites, blacks, Latinos, Koreans, the rich and poor, the powerful and powerless, and they're all victims, at some level. No one is free of stereotyping, which gives you some idea of how human, how real, the characters are. They are as flawed as you or your neighbors. They think they are making choices, but much that happens to them is haphazard. None of

Spotlight on The Movies

by Ken Alan

Monster-in-Law

Starring: Jane Fonda, Jennifer Lopez, Michael Vartan, Wanda Sykes

Directed by: Robert Luketic

It's lust at first sight when Charlie Honeywell (Jennifer Lopez) and Dr. Kevin Fields (Michael Vartan) first notice each other from a distance on the beach. More chance encounters follow and after seemingly endless exchanges of sappy, adoring glances they eventually meet but the dialog is pretty shallow and there is absolutely no chemistry ever established between these characters. A short time later, Kevin decides to introduce Charlie to his mother, Viola (Jane Fonda) over lunch. Viola is an eccentric widow and a nationally known news anchor with a colorful past but she's recovering from a recent nervous breakdown after being replaced by a younger, more attractive woman with questionable credentials. This traumatic event led to a complete on-camera meltdown, probably the funniest part of this movie.

At first, Kevin's mother is on her best behavior upon being introduced to her son's new girlfriend. In fact, the two hit it off so well Kevin decides to propose to Charlie on the spot and he gets on his hands and knees (in front of mom) to pop the question. Charlie accepts and Viola is so shocked and disappointed by this that she instantly slides back toward insanity and sets out to secretly sabotage the wedding plans. Charlie and her old friends catch on to the devious plot and decide to fight back with their own diabolical counter offensive.

This marks Fonda's return to the big screen after a 14-year absence. Aside from that, there is really little that is notable about this film. The casting is poor — especially Jane Fonda and Jennifer Lopez. There is no drama or romance. We never really know why Viola is so opposed to the marriage. What is the reason for her antagonism? On a more positive note, Wanda Sykes who has appeared in a number of minor films and also does stand-up comedy was very funny in her role as Viola's wisecracking personal assistant, Ruby. This movie is targeted more towards a female audience, but the absence of violence, sex, and profanity make it a good family film or date movie for the teenagers. There are some very funny sequences, but few scenes illicit more than a slight chuckle from the audience. I give this movie 2 spotlights (out of 4).
